MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

Next Monday, May 28

Residents of Bethel are cordially invited to attend and participate in Memorial Day services on Monday, May 28, sponsored by Mundt-Allen Post #81 of the American Legion.

Commander Raymond Tripp, has announced. The traditional services are scheduled to begin with the forming of a parade at the head of Main Street at 10:45 a. m.

Services at the soldiers' monument will follow and will include invocation by Dale Thurston, Chaplain Mundt-Allen Post; an address by the Telstar Regional High School; awards to Poppy Poster Contest Winners by Mrs. Carolyn Farnum, Bryant Pond; and patriotic selections by the Telstar Regional High School band, under the direction of Glenn Bangs.

Address by Samuel Bigelow, director of admissions, Gould Academy.

Mr. Bigelow, as a lieutenant commander, USNR, was assigned to an aircraft carrier in the Pacific Theater and later as executive officer of a rescue vessel during World War II. He saw action at Iwo Jima, Okinawa, Ulithi and other areas, and performed his service duties as a chaplain.

Gratitude to the dead will include a salute by the Mundt-Allen Post band; taps with echo, Tim and Ellen Greenleaf, Telstar Regional High School band; and a selection by Mrs. Carlene Bradshaw, Charles Farrar, outgoing Post commander, will be master of ceremonies.

Memorial Day observances have been a part of the American scene for more than 100 years and although it began as an occasion to commemorate the dead of all wars, it has since become a time of remembrance of graves of family members.

Mundt-Allen Post is urging the possible participation by residents in the Memorial observance and is asking every school and business firm to display the United States Flag in salute to the meaning of the day.

Rebekah Lodge will meet at Odd Fellows' hall on Monday, May 28, at 8 o'clock. A toast will follow the meeting.

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

At a welfare directors session held in Bangor last Friday, it was pointed out we will have to assume a more significant role, at the local level, in the administration of welfare when the new regulations become effective Jan. 1, 1974. These regulations remove from the State, many of the grant programs and turns them over to the Social Security System. The standards and amounts of money paid to recipients will be changed. We will be receiving much more information on the subject as the year progresses.

There are bills before the current session of the Legislature to abolish the present settlement laws for paupers which could have an impact on the local welfare appropriations. There will be attempts to place ceilings on the maximum amount a municipality would have to pay for welfare. When the maximum is reached the State would pay a percentage of the balance.

EXPERIMENTAL SMOKING AREA APPROVED BY S. A. D. 44 BOARD — RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED

At a meeting held in the auditorium of Telstar Regional High School on Monday evening of this week, the S. A. D. 44 board of directors approved an outside smoking area for students in grades 9 through 12, at Telstar for the remainder of the current school year. The meeting was shifted from the Lecture Hall because of the large number of visitors.

In the reconsideration of the vote taken at the May 10 special meeting of the board on a proposal for a smoking area at Telstar, with no location or grade levels stated, the board voted six yes and nine no.

Following the negative vote, Dan Manson, Bethel, moved "the establishment of an outside smoking area at Telstar for the remainder of the current school year to be used by students in grades 9 through 12 who need to smoke; that such action be considered as an experiment; and that the Board make an official determination prior to the opening of school in September of 1973 regarding the continuance of such an area." The proposal was seconded by Edde Snyder of Andover. With four board members abstaining, the motion carried seven to six, with Board Chairman John K. Brown of Bethel casting the deciding vote.

Previous to announcing his vote, Mr. Brown stated that he believed that non-smoking students had the right to a clean area that was free from smoke, while realizing his action could be interpreted as promoting an unhealthy habit.

The board approved and confirmed the placement of Michael Gilbert as a sixth grade teacher for the 1973-74 school year.

TELESTAR AWARDS BANQUET NEXT THURSDAY EVENING

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Correspondent —

This week has given us very few out of door days. Rain! Day-long downpours that splattered on the windows, jumped on the pond, and turned little brooks foamingly chattering as they ran through their familiar channels in and out of the mossy and tumbled stones. However, there was an afternoon when I went to a little woody place. The sky then was like the bachelor button blue. My purpose was to visit that little spot where the lady's slippers stand. I didn't expect them to be in bloom but I did find some in little pairs awaiting a time soon to dance along their ledges all pearly with morning dew. What a lovely setting they have!

The robin was near by cheerfully loquacious, a wisp of breeze whispered, perhaps to a small brown hare or a red fox hiding, a lucid pool rimmed with nodding flowers was just a short distance away.

Among the early festival of bird songs came that of the hermit thrush, a shy bird but speaking such wonder from the green. His notes were like the flame of a rising fire then diminishing to the sound of bells far in the hills. Up again: once more rising and falling to the coil of the breeze. I sat on the ledge and listened until it died away entirely. I then had a feeling that I had lost something which I never again would know.

"Forest lanes are never straight, And round each corner there may wait Surprises for our eye and ear. The little people living here."

Up above there was a passing breeze but in the green depths where I was, there was no feel of it.

Along the trail was that dandy little fellow with his pirate's gold, caught away, dandelion, so golden bright.

Beyond the trail at my right grew a carpet of blue and white violets. "Violets, shy and retiring, Nestling amongst the leaves Emit a perfume delicate And fleeting as a breeze. Would that their beauty never fade."

Their blossoms never die For in the tender violet, God's gentleness is nigh."

Because of the rains the path was icky and in places slippery: all of which I expected and so was prepared.

A more rugged path went to the left but I followed that a very short distance... too wet for today.

Turning down the hill, I noticed a squirrel on a low limb of a tree. His little head appeared from time to time on either side of the trunk. Then each chattering and scolding, showing his resentment of me. He accompanied each grunt like sound with a kind of electric twitching of his hind legs then scampered again.

I didn't stay long to watch for I have the pretty assurance at home I have fought him all spring to keep him out of the bird feeder. He really is clever but not welcome for several days now I have outwitted him but I can see him hanging!

I found the young beauty near a brook. Was it Dickinson who wrote of it:

"So beautiful when I spied her
So pretty, so ashamed!
I'm not sure, But it is eager to defend its modesty by closing off its blushing petals when carried off by a despoiler. The same poet says:
"So hidden in her leaflets, Lest anybody find!"

She is not "hidden in her leaflets" although often seeking concealment beneath the leaves of other plants.

I followed the brook a short way through the warming sunshine. It was like Homer Williamson's "Mountain Stream."

"Sweet singing birds and flowers
So rare
And wooded pathways free from care."

When arriving home the hummingbird flew from the garden flitting from the flowers.

"O, the beauty of thy form,
Radiant all the while,
Truly reflects from above
Thy Creator's smile."

—Henry B. Knox
The rose breasted grosbeak flew out from the feeder. He is so beautiful! The purple finches were with him, all feeding together.

So I'm like Mildred Jarrell who wrote:
"I'd like to walk a country mile
And no matter where I roam
My heart is filled with gladness,
For the country is my home."

Nancy Hanscom is a nurse's aide at Andrews Nursing Home in South Paris. She was one of those who participated in the nurses aide program at Rumford last fall and winter.

She works Friday, Saturday, and Sunday from 11:00 keeping patients comfortable and charting their progress and medication, and doing odd jobs like refilling lotion bottles, etc. Nancy likes best talking with the people though, and she enjoys being a nurses aide.

Nancy isn't planning to go on to school after graduation, although she may later. She is glad she took the training course before going out and getting a job as a nurses aide, because she wanted some background first. Besides, Nancy thought she'd like the work but she couldn't be sure. When she started the training course at Rumford, it helped her to make up her mind. At the moment Nancy is taking a vacation

At school Nancy is involved in the Library Club, Chorus, and plays the saxophone in the Band. She taught herself to play the piano, and has been playing for two or three years. Nancy also teaches Sunday School at the Methodist Church in Bethel.

New Structure of State DepartmentsSTATE OF MAINE
FACTSALL THE FACTS YOU NEEDED TO KNOW (ABOUT MAINE)
AND NEVER FOUND

How many lighthouses and covered bridges are there left in Maine, and where are they? Where can you look up the newly organized State Departments and find the name of the official you need? What types of schools and hospitals are there in Maine, and where? How about business opportunities in the State?

"State of Maine Facts", the handbook of Maine, contains all these answers and more in the new 1973 edition, just published by Courier-Gazette, Inc., of Rockland, Maine. This is the sixth annual edition of a publication which has become the one indispensable reference book of information about the state—for residents, for vacationers, for schools, for librarians, for anyone who wants to know anything at all about Maine.

Included in the 100-page paperback are more facts, more references than ever before. Each of Maine's 16 counties has its own section and is fully described. New this year are both State and municipal valuations, town by town within each county. And all the new reappointed Senate Districts, with the names of all Representatives and Senators.

Students will find the expanded business industry and utilities information invaluable, while vacationers will appreciate this year's fast-packed pages of places to see, art museums (and when they are open), motor trips, mountains, festivals and fairs, parks, camping and fishing information. Boating enthusiasts and sportsmen are supplied the information they need, as well.

To help find all this information in a flash, there's even an index included. Also a list of zip codes.

"State of Maine Facts" is a handy one to fit pocket, desk drawer or bookshelf and retails at $1.00. The book is available statewide in book stores and on newsstands, or by mail from The Courier-Gazette, 1 Park Drive, Rockland, Maine 04841. Postage and handling is $2.00. Tax for Maine residents is five cents additional.

TELSTAR MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO SPONSOR THREE JUNE
RAISING PROJECTS IN JUNE

In the next month before the end of the school year the Telstar Music Department will be active trying to raise money to support the fund. The money raised will go to musical equipment for the bands and uniforms for majorettes and drill team.

First off we will be accepting donations on a good quality guitar. This should be in effect within the next week or so. The music department will have people selling tickets for this. Next will be a tag day, June 9, all day people from the music department will be in all towns representing the school selling tags to help support the music fund. We hope this will also be a success as it has been with other organizations which have tried this.

To end the year on a good note the Stage Band will be putting on a dance for the public. Other groups featured will be the instructors, who are a group consisting of faculty here at Telstar. There will be a group which calls themselves Itasi, who are a group within the Stage Band. The dance will be June 13 which is on a Wednesday night, the night before graduation. We'll have more details on this subject in a later edition of this paper.

So as you can see the music department is going to be very busy ending off the year. We certainly hope that we can depend on your support. Betsy Davis, music publicity.
